The seven Personality Rays are in each one of us, anchored in the corresponding parts of the body, with the issues related to those parts of the mental and emotional functions. The special directives of the personality numbers will activate responses by their particular vibration according to what the Soul has to work with, or work through.

The Personality issues are the challenges created by core issues usually built-in during the imprint period; womb to seven years old. They come in as past life, or parents' unresolved issues that the new child must take on because the parents were unable to clear them. This is part of the directives the personality must face. The Personality carries with it the additional challenges of world, country, regional, society, religious & genetic influences.

These are all foreign to the Higher Self. 'His form is now formed from so much of what he is not. Therefore the Soul and the Higher Self are engulfed by the world, with his own identity hidden deep within.'

The Personality numbers are the key to work through to clear the path for the Soul to emerge. The modelling period gives the Higher Self the opportunity to understand this new life that is very different from the life on earth that it remembers from its past incarnations. This clears the way for the Soul to commence its own Path and purpose

Since the vibration of a number carries the positive attributes and challenges of that particular number, they will be the same in life experiences whether in the Personality or Soul Ray. When the same number comes as a Soul directive the energy will be more powerfully experienced. The personality, however, has to work through both sets of numbers to bring them into alignment with each other.

The vibrations of the Soul number carries with it the energy and issues that are created by the colour and sound vibration of the Soul at the level of the Higher Self. The Higher Self having received the directives and plan uses all its collective consciousness of its own knowledge from its past lives to create a body for this new life. This creates the unique quality of each person that is so different. Even though they have the same date of birth or final number, they do not have the same collective consciousness of the past lives of another. The environment and genetic material consigned to that Higher Self is also different. The resultant body of the Higher Self in being human is therefore quite different. The use of the energy and issues are experienced and expressed through the chakras or energy centres in the body very differently in each individual. This creates a unique identity for that particular Soul.

The Rays of the Solar Logos, is the Creator of the planet and all life on it. The path the Soul must follow in each life originates with the Creator of the energy and how it is directed at Source, and then synthesized according to the needs through a series of hierarchical systems explained at length in Hermann's book 'Guidance From the Masters.'
